Maintenance Tips

To maintain value of a rental property, it is essential to keep the rental in a good condition at all time. By doing this, you will be providing your tenant with a safe living environment. Instead of opting for DIY, you should hire professional management team.

Repaint your property to increase the property's marketability.

Get your home inspected on a monthly basis to avoid major problems.

Provide the tenants with an information pack which includes all do's and don'ts.

Check the carbon monoxide and smoke detectors in your property regularly.

Ensure that the gutter in your rental property are free of leaves and debris.
