

Tenants Should Know

The entire process of home renting becomes easy for both the property owner and tenant if the rules that have been laid out are followed by both the parties.

Here are few rules that tenants should adhere to.

Security Deposits

Tenants should pay security deposits to property owners before they move-in to avoid any problem in future.

Informing While Moving Out

Tenants are responsible to inform property owners a month before vacating the property so that the owner gets sufficient time to fill in the vacancy.

Notifying About Increased Family Size

It is extremely important for tenants to notify property owners in case their family size increases.

Lease Agreement

A tenant must adhere to everything written in the rental lease agreement. Some of those rules are:

Always pay monthly rent on time.

Don't exceed the occupancy limit of your rental.

Keep the property in the best condition possible.

Do not create disturbance for others residing in and around the property.
