

A Guide For Setting Up Utilities For Renters

Utilities are basic services that you need at your house. These services are usually not included in the rent.

While renting an apartment, check what services are included in the rent and what utilities you will need to set up yourself.

Mostly, the utilities that a renter is responsible for include electricity, gas, cable, Internet service, etc.

You should set up your utilities as soon as you know the date of moving in to your new rental property.

Make a checklist of utility services that you require so that you are sure to cover whatever is necessary.

Most utility companies allow you to set up your account, pay your deposit, and schedule any necessary appointments online or through a mobile app.
